Located in the heart of Mancha Blanca, Casa Tinache is an exceptional two-bedroom architectural residence that harmoniously blends organic design, panoramic volcanic views, and certified sustainability. Completion is scheduled for July 2026. Constructed using a high-performance light timber frame system with advanced ETICS external insulation, the property is designed to maximise energy efficiency, thermal stability, and superior indoor air quality, ensuring year-round comfort. The luminous open-plan living area is defined by floor-to-ceiling glazing and elegant lift-and-slide doors, creating a seamless connection between interior and exterior spaces. The sculptural terrace, organically shaped to reflect the surrounding landscape, is landscaped exclusively with native vegetation. At its heart lies a heated Japanese-inspired rotenburo soaking pool, a tranquil, contemplative bathing space immersed in Lanzarote's dramatic volcanic scenery. Inside, minimalist elegance meets natural refinement. The living area flows effortlessly into a fully equipped designer kitchen featuring oak cabinetry and integrated appliances. The private master suite enjoys direct terrace access and a spa-style bathroom fitted with premium stainless-steel fixtures and intelligent sanitary systems. Casa Tinache is certified under the VERDE sustainability framework by GBCe and proudly stands as Lanzarote's first ZERO CARBON certified residential project by Ecometro. Integrated solar energy systems, greywater recycling, rainwater harvesting, dual-flow mechanical ventilation, and high-efficiency climate control technology collectively ensure long-term environmental performance and a significantly reduced operational footprint. More than a residence, Casa Tinache is a forward-thinking architectural investment — a rare opportunity to embrace sustainability, wellbeing, and design integrity in one of Lanzarote's most iconic landscapes.
